Posted on December 18, 2008 by Dina H. I love going down under and spending time with my Aussie relatives. One of the things that I miss a lot when I am over there is snowsports. Luckily, I have a cousin who lives up in the alps near Austria so when I was visiting them recently he took me on a sledding trip. Even though I was having fun on this trip it made me want to come home and hit the slopes. BOOK : snijeg u splitu pdf download - The Culture Trip - Traveling Europe? Travel to Croatia! The last time this occurred was in February 2014. The snow started to fall on Friday, February 14 and continued until Sunday, February 16. Once it stopped snowing, the temperature dropped to -20C (Dalmatian coast rarely drops below -10C). The Dalmatian coast is one of the most popular tourist spots in Croatia. Due to the severe cold weather, flights were cancelled at Zadar airport which blocked all traffic into Dalmatia for several days. The cold temperature combined with strong winds caused major accidents blocking roads throughout Croatia. Due to these extreme conditions, tourism suffered a major blow. The hot springs are located near Plitvice Lakes National Park and are 1 hour drive away from Split. The water is a mixture of hot and cold and is known to relieve joint pains and improve blood circulation. This region of Croatia is protected by UNESCO and the waterfalls are available for viewing year round. The waterfall freezes over in winter making them an ideal spot to view once the snow starts to fall. There are many activities to do during the winter months such as dog sledding, ice skating, skiing, snowboarding, and curling.
